NEBRASKA SPELLS "SPORTSMANSHIP"

As a former coach of the Huskers and as athletic director at UNL, it is a great honor for me to welcome you to the 100th season of Nebraska football.

Throughout the first century, Husker fans have been known nation-wide for their dedication to the sport, loyalty to the Huskers and genuine sportsmanship both at home and away games.

The University of Nebraska urges all Husker fans to continue this fine tradition of sportsmanship by extending courtesy to the visiting teams and officials.

All of us on the Husker Staff salute our fans as the greatest in the nation and thank you for your support and sportsmanship as we celebrate the 100th anniversary of football.

Yours for Nebraska.

ON THE COVER: "Setting the Stage." (1949-1961). Fifth in a series of seven art prints, this era covers the post-war baby-boom era and its memories: breaking OU's long conference win streak, halfback Bobby Reynolds' notable career and the beginning of the Fischer family legacy. This collector's set of seven depicting Husker history is available to the public, for more information, turn to page 86.

Nebraska vs. Iowa State

The Scouting Report

by Tom Simons

TODAY: It's Homecoming at Nebraska, as Coach Tom Osborne's Cornhuskers host the Iowa State Cyclones. After last week's 48-23 win at Oklahoma State, Nebraska's 16th-straight win in regular-season play

Husker Salute . . .

Strong safety Reggie Cooper was named the Big Eight Defensive Player-of-the-Week for his efforts against Missouri when he led all Husker tacklers with eight, including six solos. He also had a 17-yard pass interception and scored his first career touchdown when he recovered a blocked punt. Cooper leads the team and is tied for the Big Eight lead in interceptions with four, after snagging one against the Cowboys in the endzone last week.

and its 10th-straight Big Eight win, the Huskers are assured of extending their NCAA-record streak of consecutive winning seasons to 28. The Oklahoma State win made Nebraska the third school in NCAA history to win 100 games in a decade (the Huskers are 100-18-0 in the 1980s), joining Alabama (103) and Oklahoma (101), both in the 1970s. The Huskers will extend another NCAA record streak today, as they'll play before their 166th-consecutive home sellout crowd, a string which dates to 1962. Today's game is the Huskers' 53rd in a row in which they've been ranked in the AP top 10.

THE COACHES: The Huskers' Tom Osborne (Hastings, 1959) is 165-36-2 in his 17th year as a head coach, all at Nebraska, and ranks as the winningest active coach in NCAA Division I-A with an .818 winning percentage. His 165 wins and 203 games coached are both Big Eight records. The Cyclones' Jim Walden (Wyoming, 1960; M.A., Nebraska, 1971) is 55-70-4 in his 12th year as a head coach, 11-18-0 in his third year at Iowa State. Walden served on Bob Devaney's Nebraska coaching staff with Osborne from 1969-72. In 1978, he became head coach at Washington State, where he posted a 44-52-4 record in nine seasons. Osborne is 14-2-0 vs. Iowa State, 2-0-0 vs. Walden.

THE SERIES: It's the 84th meeting in a series that began with a 12-4 Nebraska win in Lincoln, Nov. 19, 1896. The Huskers lead it by a wide margin, although the two schools disagree on the actual count. Nebraska claims a 68-13-2 edge, while ISU says it's 67-14-2. The dispute concerns the 1907 game in Lincoln, which Nebraska lists as a 10-9 win. Iowa State claims a 13-10 victory. In any event, Nebraska has won 11-straight from the Cyclones since a 24-21 loss in Lincoln in 1977, including five-straight in Lincoln, and has a 29-4-0 edge in games played in Memorial Stadium. Nebraska won in a snowstorm last year at Ames, 51-16.

BIG DAY FOR GERRY: Senior quarterback Gerry Gdowski enjoyed the top offensive day for a Husker in 16 years last Saturday at Oklahoma State as he picked apart the Cowboys' blitzing defense for 295 total-offense yards. It was the fifth-highest individual total-offense day ever at Nebraska, and was the most since Dave Humm had 305 vs. Wisconsin in 1973. Gdowski ran for a career-high 125 yards while completing 10 of 24 passes for 170 yards and two TD's in a little over three quarters of play. Had he stayed in the whole game, he undoubtedly would have broken the school record of 319 yards set by Jerry Tagge vs. Missouri in 1971. Gdowski has run for at least one touchdown in four-straight games and thrown at least one touchdown pass in five-straight contests.

KEN CLARK UPDATE: The senior I-back was held to 85 yards on 21 carries by Oklahoma State, but still passed Missouri's Darrell Wallace and Kansas' John Riggins to move into the No. 18 spot on the Big Eight's career rushing chart with 2,674 yards. Clark, a graduate of Omaha Bryan High School, is 1 yard back of No. 17 Gale Sayers of Kansas, an Omaha Central grad who ranks for the moment as the top major-college rusher to come out of a Nebraska high school. Clark needs 141 yards to pass I.M. Hipp and become the second-leading rusher in Nebraska history, and 167 to become just the second Husker ever to record two 1,000-yard seasons, joining Mike Rozier, Doug DuBose and Jarvis Redwine.

Saluting the Cyclones . . .

Senior Mike Busch was a second-team All-Big Eight Football player last fall with 27 receptions for 343 yards. Last spring in baseball, he hit .400 and was selected All-Big Eight and third team All-America.

1989 HOMECOMING ROYALTY

The 1989 Homecoming Royalty will be crowned at half-time of today's game vs. Iowa State. The 1989 Royalty candidates are: FRONT ROW: Keri Hoelsing, Brenda Althouse, Carmen Curry, Jeff Gromowsky, Michele Bobak, David Madigan, Tricia Ehlers, Rich Hansen.

Chancellor's Club

It is a great pleasure to welcome alumni back to campus for Homecoming weekend. This is always an exciting time . . . a time to recognize the many personal and professional contributions our graduates are making throughout the state, the nation, and the world.

My wish is that all of the thousands of men and women who have graduated from the University of Nebraska—Lincoln over the years find the time to return to campus periodically to renew former acquaintances, to see the changes that have occurred, and to share with us their insights and perspectives on their careers and the world in which they live. I realize that, because of numerous other commitments, this is virtually impossible for many of our alumni and often because of the very nature of the education they have received at UNL—an education that prepares them for opportunities that arise not only in Nebraska but far beyond our state's boundaries.

Just as once the sun never set on the British Empire, during any given hour throughout the world, the sun now shines continuously on graduates of the University of Nebraska—Lincoln. This was forcefully brought home to me recently when I viewed a world map prepared by UNL's Office of International Affairs. On it, clusters of stickers marked every continent, every region, and virtually every nation of the world to graphically depict the presence of alumni and/or current UNL students who are living, working, or studying in other states and other nations far removed from the Lincoln campus.

Those markers present a reminder to all faculty, staff, and administrators at UNL of our obligation to prepare students for life in a complex world, one which seems to grow smaller each day. For that and other reasons, we recognize the necessity for us to pay increasing attention to internationalizing our curricula, not only in the arts and sciences — the traditional repositories of our knowledge of language and culture — but in all the areas and disciplines within the University.

To cite just one example, our College of Business Administration recognizes the need to provide a broad academic perspective for UNL students. The college now offers an international business major which requires language study and nonbusiness courses in international affairs. All students in the college are expected to complete a course in international affairs as a requirement for graduation. The College of Business Administration, along with other colleges at UNL, is expanding their international exchange program throughout the world.

All of UNL's colleges are similarly rethinking their curricula, knowing that students will need to be comfortable and confident as they prepare to make their entrance on the global stage upon which they are most certainly destined to play.

We have been fortunate in recent years to have many friends both from inside and outside the University who have pledged support to allow us to better achieve these educational and cultural objectives. I sincerely appreciate the many generous benefactors who support our efforts to provide students with the opportunity to learn more about the rapidly changing world. In particular, I would like to thank all of our alumni who have joined us this Homecoming weekend. We greatly value the assistance you have given us in the past and, I know, will continue to give in the future.

I hope you have an enjoyable and meaningful visit to campus.

I think Nebraska football is important because...

Fourteen Nebraska school-age children are winners in an art and prose contest celebrating the 100th anniversary of Nebraska football.

The contest, co-sponsored by the University and the Teachers College Alumni Association, drew 2,182 entries from elementary, junior high and middle school students all over Nebraska. Contestants entered posters, drawings, essays, short stories and poems on the theme, "I think Nebraska football is important because..."

Winners had their photo taken with Football Coach Tom Osborne and received an autographed NU football and tickets to one home football game. In attendance at today's game are:

Clark Carries on Tradition of Great NU I-Backs

By Bill Doleman

Since the advent of the forward pass in the adolescence of college football to the complexity of the game today, most teams around the country have sophisticated their offenses around the belief that the road to success is best traveled through the air.

But the dare-to-be-different Nebraska Cornhuskers have become the most successful team of the 1980s by running over and away from the teams of pass. The Huskers, behind a powerful rushing attack, have left many observers shaking their heads while leaving opponents to hang theirs and they've done so with some of the best running backs in college football dotting the I-formation.

Beginning with Jarvis Redwine and including the likes of all-pro Roger Craig, Heisman Trophy winner Mike Rozier and speedster Keith Jones, the I-back position at Nebraska in the past 10 years has been one of great tradition and high expectations. And as the decade comes to a close, Ken Clark has shrugged off the comparisons and come into his own as one of the best Nebraska has ever had.

"I heard a lot of comparisons at first, especially to Mike Rozier," Clark said. "I think that's kind of faded out now. Eventually you're going to come into your own style of running. Other people may have seen some similarities and we did have certain aspects of our running game that were alike but they weren't identical and I think I've been able to at least start developing my own style."

His style, which has mixed power and finesse, has moved the senior from Omaha Bryan up the Nebraska career rushing charts into third place behind Rozier and I.M. Hipp. Though Rozier's total of 4,780 is out of reach, Clark needs just 141 yards by season's end to pass Hipp's mark of 2,814 to become the Huskers' No. 2 career rusher. Not bad for a career that he almost didn't give a chance.

Clark came to Nebraska unheralded in the 1985 recruiting class that included Steve Taylor and Broderick Thomas. A true product of the Nebraska system, Clark played with the NU jayvees then redshirted, a role he admits took a little time to accept and he almost didn't.

"Just getting away from home for the first time and then you're red-shirted and on the meat squad all year," Clark recalled, "I think there were a lot of things that I didn't understand that were going on here. But the longer you're in the system you understand it. I look back now and it's funny to me. I think, 'how could I be so stupid even to consider wanting to leave.' That's just part of growing up."

Now he's grown into a player that may even be better than first expected. Heading into his junior season, he was the heir to the I-back throne vacated by Keith Jones. He responded with 1,497 yards in 12 starts for a 124.8-per game average but went largely unnoticed in the shadows of Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders of Oklahoma State, whom he out-dueled in yards, 256-189, in NU's 63-42 win.

"I expected to do well because I was practicing well," Clark said. "My expectations were pretty high and I think I did a lot better than I or a lot of people thought I would and that's helped me this year."

This year Clark is another in a long line of Husker All-America and Heisman Trophy candidates. He has responded with 833 yards, 167 shy of posting Nebraska's 14th 1,000-yard season, which would make him only the fourth NU back to hit the magic mark twice. He said he hasn't felt the pressure that can come with being in the national spotlight or even with the visibility in Nebraska's offense.

"The only pressure is what I put on myself to want to do better," Clark said. "All that talk doesn't put any undue pressure on me. I'm my own worst critic because I just want to do better than last year. I'd like to see myself as a complete running back at the end of the season."

If not yet "complete," he is already one of the best.

Closing in on his second-straight 1,000-yard season, Ken Clark needs just 141 yards to pass I.M. Hipp to become Nebraska's No. 2 all-time leading rusher behind Mike Rozier.

Head Football Coach/Assistant Athletic Director

Husker Coach Continues as Winner and Leader

Tom Osborne heads into his 17th season as a head coach—all at Nebraska—this year ranked at the top in college football.

Osborne takes a remarkable 158-36-2 record into 1989, the 100th season of Nebraska football. That makes him No. 1 among the winningest active coaches in Division I-A of the NCAA.

While Dr. Tom has long held "legendary" status in Nebraska, his fame is spreading throughout the nation as he continues to build Big Eight powerhouses each fall. During the past 16 years, Osborne's teams all have finished in the Top 10 and all have gone a-bowling, while averaging 10 wins per season. No other coach in the 1980s can make that claim.

Since succeeding Hall of Fame coach Bob Devaney in 1973, Osborne has posted an .811 winning percentage.

During the past nine years, his teams have won the national rushing title five times, and have finished second once and third twice. In 1988, Osborne's team was first in rushing (382.3 yards/game), sixth in scoring (39.5 points/game), and seventh in total offense (477.9 yards/game).

With Tom at the helm, Nebraska has run its string of consecutive bowl bids to 20 and its Top-10 streak to 19, both current national records.

Adding even more luster to Osborne's coaching career is the fact that the Cornhuskers have made history by producing three consecutive Outland Trophy winners (Dave Rimington in 1981 and 1982 and Dean Steinkuhler in 1983) and two consecutive Lombardi winners (Rimington in 1982 and Steinkuhler in 1983), while also winning the 1983 Heisman Trophy (Mike Rozier).

During Tom's 16-year career, the Huskers have produced 34 All-America players and 28 Academic All-America players, as well as eight NCAA postgraduate scholarship winners and four National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Scholar-Athlete recipients. During his tenure, 119 Huskers have been drafted by NFL teams, 12 in the first round.

Only two Osborne-coached teams have finished lower than second in the Big Eight—the 1976 team, which tied for fourth but was only one game out of a first-ever three-way tie for first, and his 1986 10-2 team, which lost to Colorado and Oklahoma. His teams have won or shared in the conference title seven times in the past 13 years, including last season (1975, 1978, 1981, 1982, 1983, 1984 and 1988).

Five times he has been named Big Eight coach of the year (1975, 1978, 1980, 1983 and 1988), and six times he has been named district coach of the year by the American Football Coaches Association and Kodak (1978, 1979, 1980, 1983, 1987 and 1988). In addition, in 1978 he was named Bobby Dodds national coach of the year by the Atlanta Quarterback Club and Delta Air Lines for his efforts toward the advancement of the higher and more notable aspects of college coaching. And in 1983 Football News named Osborne national coach of the year.

In 1982 he was the first recipient of the Distinguished Nebraskalander Award from the Nebraskaland Foundation, and in 1983 he was named national coach of the year by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Osborne, who graduated from Hastings College in 1959 before logging pro time with the Washington Redskins and San Francisco 49ers, joined Devaney as an assistant in 1962. In 1965 he received his Ph.D. in educational psychology, then chose football coaching as a career. He coached the Husker receivers and helped build the NU offense into one of the most potent in the nation during the 1970 and 1971 national championship years.

While Osborne was a newcomer to the head coaching ranks in 1973, he was no stranger to Nebraska football. Osborne was a member of Bob Devaney's incomparable staff for 11 years—the last six as a key organizer of a steamroller offense.

During his tenure on the Devaney staff,

Osborne headed the passing game strategy and coached the receivers. When Devaney announced his retirement from coaching in favor of full-time athletic director duties following the 1971 season, he named Osborne as his successor. Osborne served as assistant head coach and director of recruiting in Devaney's final campaign in 1972, then took the head coaching reins in 1973.

An outstanding high school athlete at Hastings (Neb.) High School in the mid-1950s, Osborne was named Nebraska prep athlete of the year. Passing up major-college offers, Osborne became a star quarterback and basketball player for Hastings College, where both his father and grandfather had matriculated. At Hastings he played both football and basketball for Coach Tom McLaughlin, who was elected to the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame in 1982. In 1959 Osborne was named state college athlete of the year—the first athlete in Nebraska history to win both the high school and the college honors.

In 1962 he secured a position as a graduate assistant on Bob Devaney's Husker staff. He served in that capacity until he obtained his master's degree in 1963. Continuing his dual role in education and football coaching, Osborne gained his doctorate in 1965 and, holding the academic rank of instructor of educational psychology at Teachers College, was a part-time coach.

Osborne, born Feb. 23, 1937, elected to pursue coaching full-time in 1967 and became the Huskers' receivers coach, a decision that NU fans have applauded since.

Married to the former Nancy Tederman, Osborne is the father of a son, Mike, and two daughters, Ann and Susie. Mike followed in his father's footsteps by playing football at Hastings College, where he was a quarterback. ■

Athletic Director BOB DEVANEY

Bob Devaney ranks as one of the finest football coaches in college history, after his colorful 16-year career at Wyoming and Nebraska, and now ranks as one of the nation's most outstanding athletic directors.

Devaney is in his 28th year of providing drive, leadership and pride in the Cornhusker athletic program. He arrived in 1962, charged with the mission of building a successful football program, and he succeeded far beyond anyone's expectations. During an 11-year stint as Husker football coach, Devaney's teams won 101, lost only 20 and tied two for a winning percentage of .829. His career mark of 136-30-7 (.806) ranked him as the winningest coach in the nation at the time of his retirement in 1973. Devaney's teams won eight Big Eight titles and two consecutive national championships during the 1962-72 span, with his teams going to nine bowl games. His teams twice won four consecutive Big Eight titles.

Devaney's 1971 team, which posted a 13-0 record and twice played for the national championship (beating Oklahoma, 35-31, in the "Game of the Century," and Alabama, 38-6, in the Orange Bowl), has been hailed as the best college team of all time. Devaney was inducted into the National Football Hall of Fame in 1981.

Since becoming athletic director in 1967, Devaney has brought the same success to the overall Husker athletic program that he brought to the football program. Under his leadership, Nebraska annually sets the pace in the Big Eight all-sports race with solid entries in all men's and women's sports.

Under Devaney's guidance, Memorial Stadium has been enlarged, artificial turf has been installed and replaced three times, a stadium office building was constructed, and sports facilities such as the Otto and Gladys Baumann Baseball Complex, Buck Beltzer Baseball Stadium, Ed Weir Track, a new track office building and the women's softball stadium have come into being.

It was Devaney's leadership, working in conjunction with the Nebraska Legislature, that resulted in the passage of a special cigarette tax to provide funds for a new athletic complex, the beautiful basketball arena, indoor track, swimming and other sports building, which opened on the State Fair Grounds in 1976. University of Nebraska Regents recognized Devaney's contributions to that four-and-a-half-acre structure by naming it the Bob Devaney Sports Center in 1978.

Devaney spearheaded a fund-raising drive to provide the University of Nebraska with a new Faculty-Student Recreation Center, as well as the Cook Pavilion indoor workout facility, completed in November 1987.

Devaney received many other honors during his coaching career. He was named Coach of the Year by the Walter Camp Foundation, the Football Writers of America, Football News and the Washington TD Club in 1971; and he was tabbed to coach in numerous all-star games, such as the Hula Bowl, Coaches All-American, Blue-Gray and East-West Shrine. He also coached the College All-Stars against the Dallas Cowboys in the 1972 Chicago game.

A graduate of Alma (Michigan) College in 1939, Devaney served as a high school coach at Big Beaver, Keego Harbor, Saginaw and Alpena in Michigan before joining Biggie Munn and Duffy Daugherty at Michigan State. In 1957 he became head coach at Wyoming, where his teams posted a 35-10-5 record.

Devaney is married to the former Phyllis Wiley. They have a son, Mike, and a daughter, Pat, both graduates of the University of Nebraska. Bob and Phyllis also have two grandchildren. ■

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

Innovation and Excellence for America's Future

Two years after acquiring statehood, Nebraska founded the University of Nebraska in Lincoln as both its land-grant institution and its state university. Since 1869 the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) has been a catalyst in Nebraska's development as an imaginative, industrious and ingenious state.

Today the partnership between Nebraska and its university is taking on new dimensions. UNL has redefined and expanded its traditional land-grant role to reflect Nebraska's need for new knowledge in a wide spectrum of rapidly advancing scientific, technological, agricultural and business-related areas.

As Nebraska's major research and most comprehensive undergraduate university, UNL serves as the primary source of new knowledge in the academic disciplines and provides education of the highest quality for future scientists and engineers, as well as for students in the liberal arts and professions. UNL researchers have achieved national stature for doing work in the fields of electro-optical measurements, mass spectrometry, biotechnology, biochemistry, climatology, atomic and solid-state physics, materials science, water quality, agricultural marketing and economics, communication disorders, computer science, political analysis, history and English, among others.

To meet the demands of scholarship and service, UNL has taken an interdisciplinary approach to complex research problems. In recent years the University has established research centers in the areas of productivity and entrepreneurship, franchise studies, engine technology, electro-optical measurements, biotechnology and biochemistry, food processing technology, Great Plains studies and agricultural product development, marketing and utilization.

Informational support for university teaching and research includes a library system with more than two million volumes, an on-campus network of main-frame and personal computers, and participation in MIDNET, a vital link to the National Science Foundation's super-computer network.

UNL's 1,100-member faculty is one of Nebraska's most vital resources. Nationally respected for their expertise and scholarship, UNL faculty bring to the classroom a commitment to providing the University's 25,000 undergraduate and graduate students with the intellectual skills and the breadth of knowledge they will require as community and professional leaders in this era of accelerated technological and social change.

As a result of a two-year study, UNL has initiated the Program for the Advancement of General Education. Undergraduate programs are being strengthened as curricula are refined to provide a common learning experience for UNL's students. Substantial attention is being focused on the development of skills that a citizen of the 21st century will require: the ability to communicate verbally and in writing, mathematical competency, computer literacy, facility with languages other than English, sound reasoning capabilities, and the ability to make decisions that are both knowledge- and value-based.

More than 150,000 alumni worldwide have graduated from UNL to become leaders in business, industry, education and the professions.

Over the years alumni such as authors Willa Cather and Mari Sandoz, legal educator Roscoe Pound, anthropologist and author Loren Eiseley, and scientists such as Nobel Prize-winning chemists George Beadle and Donald Cram, inventor Harold "Doc" Edgerton and computer pioneer Jay Forrester have enriched the University's tradition of leadership and scholarly excellence.

Quality instruction is emphasized in UNL's eight undergraduate colleges, in the Graduate School and in the professional graduate College of Law. The Colleges of Agriculture, Architecture, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Engineering and Technology, Home Economics and Journalism and the Teachers College offer more than 130 degree programs leading to career opportunities in the arts, the sciences, the humanities and the professions.

UNL receives more than $30 million annually in grants and contracts from outside sources for research, instruction, public service, administration and student aid.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln reaches thousands of citizens each year through programs conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service and the Division of Continuing Studies. The Cooperative Extension Service provides all Nebraskans with information and assistance in agricultural and natural resources, home economics, family living, 4-H and youth development and community resource development. The Continuing Studies program offers an alternative to formal on-campus education with programs such as summer reading courses, evening classes, independent study by correspondence, telecourses and study tours.

The Lincoln campus is home to the nationally renowned Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery and Sculpture Garden, the University of Nebraska State Museum, the Christlieb Collection of Western Art and the University's championship Big Eight Conference men's and women's athletic teams.

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is an imaginative leader in American education, setting ever higher standards for degrees of excellence. ■

HENRY GRETHEL

THE HUSKERS THROUGH THE CENTURY

by Bill Doleman

It wasn't much, but it was the beginning. The year was 1890 and for many Nebraskans, it could well be the beginning of time. It was then that the University of Nebraska embarked into the world of collegiate athletics by fielding the school's first football team, thus laying the foundation for one of the great traditions in sports. A tradition that is stronger than ever 100 years later.

Though no official head coach is listed, it was University faculty member Dr. Langdon Frothingham and team captain Ebenezer E. Mockett who led the students to a 10-0 victory over the Omaha YMCA in the inaugural game on Thanksgiving Day, 1890. It wasn't until February of 1891 before they would play again, but the 18-0 win over Doane effectively ended the gridgers' first season unbeaten and unscored upon.

In its infancy, the Nebraska football program had as much difficulty finding a coach as it did finding suitable opponents. Season No. 2's four-game schedule saw

The 1890 football team was the first assembled.

NU win two of three from Doane while losing to Iowa under one-game coach T.U. Lyman. A year later, Omaha attorney J.S. Williams also had a one-game stint with the team before Frank Crawford took over as the first official head coach in 1893.

Almost concurrent with the birth of Nebraska football was the beginning of the rivalry with the team south of the border—the University of Kansas. It was in 1892 that the schools first squared off in what has become one of the oldest present-day rivalries in college football. While recent success has dictated NU dominance, it was Kansas who took the first meeting, 12-0 in Lincoln. A series with Missouri would follow shortly.

College football was far from the big business that it is today; instead, the heart of the team lay in the heart of the players who wanted to participate. Names are hard to come by and are hardly household memories, but without the men of the 1890s like J.A. Barkley, H.G. Cowgill, George Flippin (NU's first black player) and the Yont brothers, A.E. and J.G., and still others, the dream of Nebraska football may not be the reality that it is today. ■

A new century brought with it the second decade of football at the University of Nebraska. A decade that also laid the foundation for the winning tradition of today. It was the birth of "Cornhusker" football.

Early nicknames of Nebraska teams from the 1890s had included the Old Gold Knights, Antelopes and the unglamorous and infamous Bug-eaters. Finding such terms hard to swallow, Lincoln sportswriter Cy Sherman took a liking to a nickname originally penned for neighboring Iowa. However Iowans seemed to prefer the Hawkeye label for their teams, so, seizing the opportunity, Sherman began the new century with a new nickname for the young program—the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

After going through eight coaches in the first 10 years, Walter C. "Bummy" Booth took the reins of the fledgling football program in 1900 and established the first measurable continuity and success that has since become the trademark of recent Husker history. With back-to-back unbeaten seasons in 1902 (9-0, unscored upon) and 1903 (10-0), the prairie gridgers put together a 24-game win streak, the longest in school history. Booth's .845 winning percentage in six years at the helm is second all-time at Nebraska.

It was the 1907 Huskers, the first under W. C. Cole, who would enjoy a season of milestones. During the 8-2 campaign, a 63-0 win over Denver was the program's 100th, coming just 17 years after the first. As a measure of Nebraska's early success, it was not until the 1941 season that the Cornhuskers would suffer loss No. 100, 52 years after the first snap. It was also Cole's first season that brought NU the first of its 35 conference titles, as the Huskers captured the first of two Missouri Valley crowns in his four-year stint.

Still, finding opponents for Nebraska was, at times, challenging. Among the teams falling victim in the first 100 wins were the Kirksville Osteopaths, Knox and the Lincoln Medics—not to be confused with the K.C. Medics, who hold a 2-1-1 series lead over NU. Research has indicated several games of the early era were actually considered exhibitions and practices, but nevertheless it was a chance to play. ■

The 1902 Huskers' 9-0 season was part of a 24-game win streak from 1901-04.

Nebraska's famous "Scoring Explosion" attack of 1983 had nothing on the high-flying Huskers of the early 1910s. The Missouri Valley champion of 1910, Nebraska concluded the season by outscored opponents 182-0 in the last five games, including a 119-0 thrashing of the Haskell (Kan.) Indians in the season finale. It remains as the biggest margin of victory in school history.

The Huskers of old didn't let up much in the following year, defeating Kearney Normal, 117-0, and Kansas State, 59-0, in the opening games of 1911. In fact, in the first three years of the third decade, the Huskers outscored their opponents 781-106 as they won or shared the conference title all three seasons.

The 1912 season ended with five straight wins, the beginning of a 34-game unbeaten streak that extended into 1916. But 1912 had far-reaching ramifications beyond runaway victories and conference titles. The season ended with the beginning of one of the greatest rivalries in sports—the "Shootout" between Nebraska and Oklahoma. Nebraska claimed the initial victory with a hard-fought 13-9 win over the Sooners. It wasn't until seven years later that the two teams would meet again in a 7-7 tie. The stage for history had been set.

The high-scoring 1910 Huskers were Missouri Valley Conference champs.

Later in the decade, Nebraska would again reach the century mark in a 100-0 win over Nebraska Wesleyan. But as World War I began taking its toll on the country, NU was not immune, with several players hearing the duty call. The Huskers of 1918 suffered only the second losing season in 29 years, finishing 2-3-1. Opponents again were hard to come by as five regularly-scheduled games were cancelled while the Omaha Balloon School and Camp Dodge remained on the schedule. Nevertheless, the third decade of Nebraska football was the most successful prior to the Devaney-Osborne Era, which began in 1962. It also marked the beginning of another new tradition as Vic Halligan in 1914 and Guy Chamberlin in 1915 were named All-Americans, the first of 66 Huskers so honored through 1988. ■

The opening of the new 31,000-seat Memorial Stadium in 1923 upgraded the growing Nebraska program into national prominence during the 1920s. In the years since then, the home of the Huskers and their faithful has been at the heart of the Big Red tradition.

From Day One, home has been sweet. In 67 years within the friendly confines of Memorial Stadium, the Huskers are 247-96-13 for a winning percentage of .712. But it became obvious early on that there was no place like Nebraska's new home. Win No. 1 was a 24-0 shutout of archrival Oklahoma in the inaugural game, but it is win No. 2, three weeks later, that still echoes through the halls of history.

It was then that the legendary coach Knute Rockne brought his unbeaten Fighting Irish of Notre Dame into Memorial Stadium for the first time. For Nebraska, 1-1-2 going in, conquering the challenge presented by the invincible Irish seemed improbable. It was not, however, impossible. In fact, the Huskers were looking to make it two in a row over an unbeaten Notre Dame team after a 14-6 win in the 1922 season finale. History does have a way of repeating itself as it did on Nov. 10, 1923. In what remains today as one of the greatest wins in Husker history, NU handed the Irish their only loss of the season, 14-7. A year later Notre Dame and the Four Horsemen would get their revenge, 34-6, en route to the school's first national title. But the Huskers would get the last laugh in one of the great rivalries of the 1920s beating Notre Dame, 17-0, in 1925. The schools have met just three times since.

Overall, the Huskers roared through the early Twenties under four-year head coach Fred T. Dawson, who led NU to three straight Missouri Valley Conference titles, 1921-23. Though Dawson's '24 team failed in its quest for a fourth league title, it was then that the honors began rolling in for one of the greatest athletes ever to wear a Nebraska uniform. A letterman in 1923, tackle Ed Weir earned All-America honors in 1924 then again in 1925 to become the first two-time All-American in NU history and the only one until middle guard Wayne Meyland repeated the honor in 1966-67.

As it turned out, Nebraska would never again lay claim to the Missouri Valley title after 1924. Instead, a new league was created combining top teams from the Midwest into the Big Six Conference in 1928. The Huskers wasted little time in establishing supremacy in the new conference by winning the first two and eight of the first 10 team titles through 1937. ■

The high expectations that come hand in hand with a tradition of success can often times be unattainable. Cornhusker followers, friend or foe, have come to expect the best from the Nebraska program, which can be highly complimentary. But more impressive is the fact that the Huskers have delivered.

For the past 19 years Nebraska has landed a team in the top 10 in at least one major wire service poll. Right or wrong, it is the polls that have become the standard used to measure a team's stock. Recent history values the Huskers among the blue chippers, just as they were when the first Associated Press poll appeared in 1936.

It was Oct. 19, 1936, when the first AP poll appeared over the wires and, like they have so often since then, the Huskers, at 2-1, were among the elite group pulling in the No. 15 ranking. Undaunted by the pressure, NU went on to a 14-0 victory over unranked Oklahoma the following week.

Winning four of their last five, the Huskers found themselves at No. 9 in the final poll. A year later, Nebraska finished 6-1-2 and ranked 11th, then fell on hard times in 1938, losing four of their first five and finishing 3-5-1. It was only the third losing season in school history. Regrouped, NU ended the decade and the program's 50th year with a 13-7 win over the No. 14 Sooners, then grabbed the No. 18 spot after a 7-1-1 season in 1939.

But even before the advent of the polls, the Huskers had established themselves among the top teams of the 1930s. Under head coach D.X. Bible, who took over in 1929, NU won six Big Six Conference titles between 1931-37. It was an era in which Nebraska more than doubled its All-America production over the first four decades, as six Huskers earned national honors playing for Bible and later for "Biff" Jones. In 1937, center Charles Brock and tackle Fred Shirey became the first Huskers honored as All-Americans in the same season.

Prior to 1937, a large share of Nebraska players had gone on to play professional football but it wasn't until that year that NU would have a player selected in the first round of the National Football League draft. It happened in a big way, as not one but three players—Lloyd Cardwell, Sam Francis and Les McDonald—were top selections.

Nebraska has duplicated the first round hat trick two other times, in 1972 and again in 1984. In all, more than 200 former Huskers have spent time playing pro football since the 1920s. ■

Tackle Hugh Rhea earned All-America honors in 1930.

While the first 50 years enjoyed their share of success, the 1940 edition of the Nebraska football team entered the program's second half-century by introducing Husker fans to a new pastime. For the first time in history the Cornhuskers and their faithful went "bowling."

The 1940 Big Six Conference champions, the 8-2 Huskers were in reality the lone brightspot in what became the worst decade in school history. With an overall record of 34-57, NU's winning percentage of .374 is at the bottom of the list. But it was also a decade that will forever be remembered for the school's first bowl trip and also for several Husker greats who survived the lean years.

As it turned out, 1940 was the only winning season of the decade, but that team made the most of its success by earning a berth in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. It was only the third bowl trip ever for a Big Six Conference team and the 92,000 fans who attended still ranks as the largest crowd ever to see Nebraska play.

What they saw was a classic battle between Nebraska's vaunted power attack and the innovative T-formation of the Stanford Indians. The Huskers got on the board quickly on Vike Francis' two-yard run but Stanford countered quickly four plays later to tie the score. NU would score again in the second quarter but the Indians would answer back and take a lead they would not relinquish. A punt return for a touchdown in the third quarter would ice the game, 21-13. The loss aside, Nebraska's tradition had reached another plateau.

The success of the 1940 team was short-lived. Nebraska would finish seventh in the final 1940 AP poll but it wasn't until

The 1940 Nebraska football team was the first to earn a bowl bid by playing in the 1941 Rose Bowl.

1950 that the Huskers would again be included in the final rankings. And it wasn't until 24 years later that NU would capture a conference title, as Oklahoma and Bud Wilkinson won or shared four of the last five Big Six titles then went on to take every Big Seven championship through 1959.

Instability may have been the root of the Cornhuskers' woes as they competed through World War II. Like the 1890s, coaches were hard to find and keep as seven men led the charge only to be met with defeat after defeat. Milestones were few and far between and some were forgettable yet remarkable. For example, a 6-0 loss to Missouri on Oct. 25, 1941, was the school's 100th loss but it occurred 52 years or 427 games later. Nebraska's gridiron success was still proud as win No. 300 would come in 1942 with a 7-0 shutout of Oklahoma.

Three Huskers would earn All-America honors in the decade, including Warren Alfson and Forrest Behm in 1940. The 1949 Huskers managed a 4-5 record but produced one of the most popular players in Nebraska history in center Tom "Train Wreck" Novak, who became NU's 14th All-American. Following the season, Novak became the first of only six Huskers honored, as his jersey No. 60 was retired to become a part of Nebraska history. ■

1950-1959

Looking to put the lean years behind them, the Huskers and second-year head coach Bill Glassford moved into the 1950s with renewed hope and optimism. Unfortunately, things would be only slightly better in the win-loss column. However, Nebraska had its moments in the pre-Devaney Era.

The first season of the decade saw the Huskers ranked No. 17 in the final AP poll with a 6-2-1 record. In the following new head coach Bill Jennings, the 1957 Huskers' 14-7 victory over Kansas State was the lone win against nine losses in what remains as the worst season in NU history. Loss No. 200 would come a year later. But finding a silver lining is not as difficult as one might think.

It was the decade that gave Husker fans an exciting All-America halfback in the late Bobby Reynolds, whose performances are as impressive today as they were in 1950-52. His total of 1,342 yards rushing in 1950 made him the first Husker back to gain 1,000 yards in a single season, and still ranks as the fourth highest single-seanents. But because of a no-repeat rule, conference runner-up Nebraska made its first-ever appearance in the Orange Bowl on Jan. 1, 1955. Duke bedeviled the Huskers, giving up only a short touchdown run by Don Comstock in a 34-7 rout.

Because of the Sooner reign and some trying times of its own, Nebraska would not make a return bowl trip in the decade. But the Huskers would have their moments in the Big Seven. The year was 1959, the final season before the conference expanded to eight teams. Oklahoma had not lost a conference game since 1947. That is until Oct. 31, 1959, when the 2-4 Huskers upset the No. 19 Sooners 25-21 in Lincoln. The Sooners were able to take yet another conference championship while NU finished sixth, but Husker pride was still intact.

The '55 Orange Bowl had been the Huskers' second bowl game ever and it was also their second appearance on national television. It was a year earlier, in a 20-12 loss to Oregon on Sept. 19, 1953, that NU made its debut in a broadcast from Memorial Stadium. In all, the young medium had not been kind in the early years, as Nebraska made five appearances on TV in the 1950s, all resulting in losses. But with more and more people across the country being introduced to the Big Red, Nebraska was now on the threshold of national prominence with the union of college football and television. In 103 network appearances, the Huskers are 66-37 on televised games. ■ years, NU would make only brief appearances and would not be included in a final poll until 1963, the second year under Bob Devaney. In all, Husker fans would brave through six losing seasons through the Fifties. The 39-58-3 record betters only the 1940s in the list of decades. Under

1960-1969

It has been said that it's always darkest before the dawn. After nearly 20 years of sub-par performance, the 1960s brought the dawning of a new era in Nebraska football that has since made prospects brighter and brighter.

The 1960s had picked up where the Forties and Fifties had left off. Despite a 14-13 upset win over No. 4 Texas in the '60 season opener, another 4-6 record ensued along with a sixth-place finish in the new Big Eight Conference. The following year wasn't any better, but the 3-6-1 record stands as Nebraska's last losing season. Enter Bob Devaney.

It was 28 years ago that the head cowboy from the University of Wyoming rode into town with his staff aiming to change the ways of a program that had fallen on hard times. The Devaney Era began in 1962 and not a minute too soon for Husker fans, whose faith was reaching a collective limit. Wasting little time, Devaney's first Husker squad finished 9-2, was third in the Big Eight and earned a trip to the Gotham Bowl in New York against Miami. The exciting 36-34 win was Nebraska's first in a bowl and first in front of a national television audience. The nine wins were the most by an NU squad since the unbeaten Missouri. It was Devaney's first loss at NU but more importantly it was the first of what will be 168-straight sellouts through the 1989 season. It would be a few years later that Bob Dylan would make famous the anthem of the Sixties, "The times, they are a changin'," but at Nebraska they already were.

Devaney's second year brought even more success as the upstart Huskers finished 10-1, ranked sixth in the new United Press International poll and fifth in AP and won their first conference title since 1940 and the first of four in a row. A pair of 6-4 seasons in 1967 and 1968 did little to slow the Big Red machine as it headed into the final year of the decade. Milestones would bookend the beginning and ending of the 1969 season as game No. 700 would be the season opener against Southern Cal. The Sun Bowl bid, at season's end against Georgia, would be the first of an NCAA-record 20-straight bowl appearances through the 1989 Orange Bowl.

But the best was yet to come. ■

Eighty years after the first Nebraska football team took the field on Thanksgiving Day of 1890, the Big Red machine was now unstoppable as it entered the 1970s.

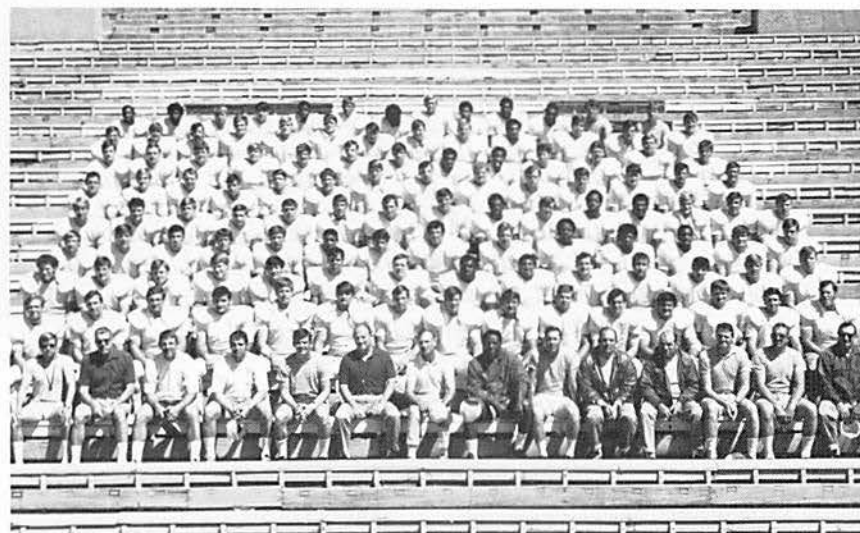

In eight previous seasons under head coach Bob Devaney, winning had become a way of life for Nebraska's players, coaches and fans. But the success most schools can only dream about became a Husker reality in the early 1970s.

The preseason No. 9 team according to AP in 1970, Nebraska reeled off a school-record 11 wins with one tie en route to the Big Eight title and a berth in the Orange Bowl on Jan. 1, 1971. A day that began with NU ranked third in AP, ended when quarterback Jerry Tagge lunged over the goal line from the one-yard marker giving Nebraska a 17-12 win over Louisiana State and vaulting the Huskers into their first-ever national championship. At the time, UPI had given the top ranking to Texas in the final poll prior was in 1971 were quickly erased when the second-ranked Huskers defeated Oregon 34-7 in the season opener then moved into the top spot the following week. They never looked back. Nebraska rolled its way through 12 regular-season wins and captured the Big Eight title along the way with a thrilling 35-31 win over No. 2 Oklahoma in what has been called "The Game of the Century"—the greatest football game ever played. The Huskers made a return trip to the Orange Bowl with its second-straight national title on the line against coaching legend Paul "Bear" Bryant and his Alabama Crimson Tide. By the end of the game and the season, Nebraska had proven its superiority with 38-6 win and the national championship.

Led by six All-Americans, including Outland Trophy winner Larry Jacobson, it was a team that has been called by many the best college football team of all time.

An unbeaten streak of 32 games was snapped in the season opener of 1972, dropping preseason No. 1 Nebraska out of the top spot and out of contention for a third national title. The Huskers would still manage yet another Big Eight title while Johnny Rodgers won the Heisman Trophy and Rich Glover captured both the Outland and Lombardi awards.

The following season brought a changing of the guard as Devaney stepped aside from his coaching duties and turned the reins over to a former graduate assistant who has since become one of the most respected coaches in the nation. Continuing the winning tradition, the first season of the Tom Osborne Era at Nebraska began on Sept. 4, 1973, with a 40-13 thrashing of UCLA before a national television audience and ended with a 19-3 win over Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

The Huskers closed out the 1970s with a record of 98-20-4 for a winning percentage of .820, the best in school history. In addition, Osborne guided NU to the Big Eight title twice with seven more bowl appearances and top 10 finishes. In all, 22 Huskers would earn All-America honors, 14 under Osborne, who would take the University of Nebraska into the 1980s as one of the most respected and successful programs in all of college sports. ■

As the Huskers close out the first century of football at NU, they do so with a history of success and accomplishments that few if any schools can match. And in the decade of the 1980s, few if any have done it better.

Osborne-coached teams have already won 92 of 110 games in the decade (.836) and though they have yet to win a national championship, they have been in contention every year. In some cases, only a matter of inches has kept NU away from football history.

After a loss to eventual national champion Clemson in the 1982 Orange Bowl, Nebraska regrouped to make another run when the new season began in September of that year. Two wins set the stage for the second-ranked Huskers to meet No. 8 Penn State in the season's first road game on September 25. Though early in the season, a 27-24 loss amidst controversy on the Nittany Lions' winning touchdown drive would be the only blemish on a 12-1 record, thus forcing Husker fans to "wait 'til next year."

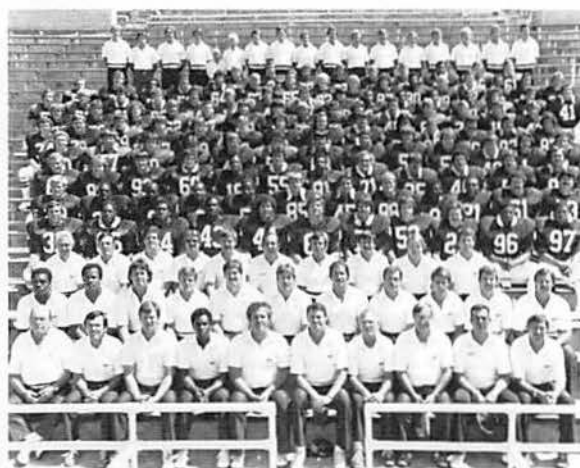

Next year would showcase one of the most dominant performances by a team in the history of college football. Comparisons to the '71 Huskers, the '24 Irish and the Army Cadets of '45 were inevitable and the 1983 Nebraska squad let it be known early that this was no ordinary team. In the inaugural Kickoff Classic on August 29, NU avenged the loss of a year ago by embarrassing defending national champion Penn State, 44-6. Scores of 84-13, 63-7, 69-19, 72-29 and 67-13 dubbed the Huskers' offense as "the Scoring Explosion" while leading the nation in scoring, rushing and total offense and owning the No. 1 ranking from the beginning of the season until Jan. 3, 1984. It the second Husker to win the Heisman, Dean Steinkuhler took home both the Outland and Lombardi and Irving Fryar became the top pick in the National Football League draft. But arguably the best of them all may well have been the man who nationally went unheralded. A young sophomore when he rescued NU from a 1-2 start in 1981, Turner Gill went on to lead the Huskers to a 28-2 record and three Big Eight titles as the starting quarterback and remains one of the most popular players ever to wear a Cornhusker uniform.

Two more conference titles have rested in Lincoln since then and still another milestone has been met, as a 48-17 win over Missouri in 1986 put Nebraska in league with only a handful of schools with 600 victories. Individually, the 18 All-Americans honored through 1988 has pushed the overall NU total to 66. Equally as impressive is the 34 Academic All-Americans produced at NU, including 16 in the current decade alone.

In the 27 years of the Devaney-Osborne Era, only two teams have won fewer than nine games, while four of the last five Husker squads have won 10. NU has made an NCAA-record 20 straight bowl appearances and finished in the nation's top ten for 19 consecutive seasons. The recent success of Husker teams is at the pinnacle of the 100-years of the Big Red tradition that is Nebraska football—a tradition that has become synonymous with college football. ■ was the morning after the most heartbreaking defeat in Nebraska history, as Miami, playing on its home field in the Orange Bowl, shocked NU 31-30. Only a fingertip deflection of a two-point conversion in the final seconds of the game kept Nebraska from football immortality.

It was in the early Eighties that some of the greatest stars in Nebraska history shone brightest. Like 1972, NU made an unprecedented second sweep of the major individual honors as Mike Rozier became

It means more when it comes from the coach.

The Domino's Pizza/AFCA "Coaches' Choice" Award honors the best collegiate football player in each of the four divisions of the American Football Coaches Association.

Established in 1988, it is quickly becoming one of the country's premier college football awards because the winners are selected by those who recruit, train and prepare student athletes.

The Domino's Pizza/AFCA "Coaches' Choice" Award: It's the voice of the experts - the coaches.

THE DIRECTOR'S CLUB

The Director's Club of the University of Nebraska was formed by the University of Nebraska Foundation to afford proper recognition of those alumni and friends who support the athletic programs of the University at a level above that of other boosters and to encourage others with the capabilities and interest to increase their support. The university athletic department sincerely thanks these contributors.

1990 Nebraska Basketball School

All Sessions at the Air Conditioned
Bob Devaney Sports Center

BOYS INDIVIDUAL CAMP I (May 27-31)

For boys entering the fifth grade through boys entering their senior year in high school. All campers will be grouped according to their age and ability. Each day of camp will include instruction on individual offensive and defensive techniques, team concepts and actual game competition.

BOYS TEAM WEEKEND CAMPS: I (June 8-9), II (July 6-7) AND TEAM WEEK CAMP (June 17-21)

All three camps are open for all classes and to high school age boys only. Each school must have a minimum of six players (we recommend eight), and a member of the high school's basketball staff will coach the team during the week/weekend. Each team will have daily practice situations. There will be lecture periods conducted by the Nebraska Basketball Staff. Each school is allowed to bring more than one team.

BOYS ELEMENTARY/JR. HIGH DAY CAMP (July 9-13, Grades 4-8)

For boys entering the fourth grade through boys entering the eighth grade. There will be a morning and afternoon session. This is a day camp and each camper must provide for his own lodging. The morning session will begin at 9 a.m. and the afternoon session will end at approximately 3:30 p.m. Instruction will be given on individual offensive and defensive techniques as well as team concepts. Each camper will play 3 or 4 games per day.

SPECIALTY CAMP I: BIG MAN (June 22-23, Grades 8-12)

The Husker Big Man's Camp is designed for the inside player and will concentrate on teaching moves such as the drop step power lunge, up and under move, the baby hook, and the bounce step jumper. In addition, drills to improve agility, foot quickness, and jumping ability will be stressed to improve rebounding technique. Video analysis will be used to assist development of skills.

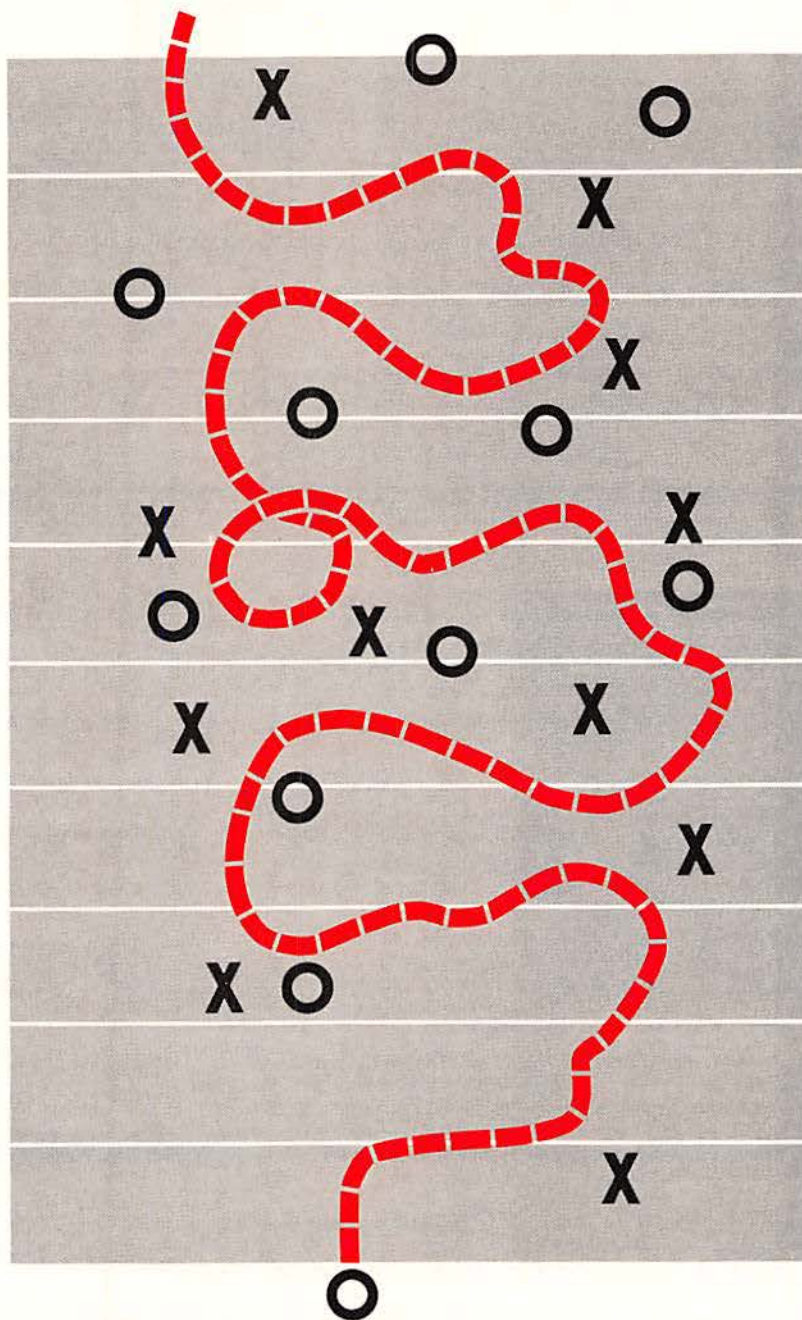

SPECIALTY CAMP II: SHOOTING (June 15-16, Grades 7-12)

The Husker Shooting Camp will emphasize individual instruction with fundamental skills of shooting. The power lay up, the hook shoot, and the jump shot will be stressed. Fundamental emphasis will be on offensive moves without the basketball, footwork for shooting quickly and efficiently, proper alignment of hand, wrist, and arm, developing of proper arc, increasing range, and shooting off the dribble or off of a screen. Video analysis will be used to assist development of proper shooting technique.

BOYS INDIVIDUAL CAMP II: (June 24-28)

For boys entering the fifth grade through boys entering their senior year in high school. All campers will be grouped according to their age and ability. Each day of camp will include instruction on individual offensive and defensive techniques, team concepts, and actual game competition.

NEBRASKA

Captain Jobman Sets Example By Accepting Reserve Role

by Nick Hodge

Nebraska inside linebacker Randall Jobman knows what roles he plays for Coach Tom Osborne's highly ranked Huskers.

Jobman, a 6-foot-3, 235-pound senior from Lisco, Neb., neither leads the Blackshirt defense in tackles, nor does he start but he's very much a team leader despite his alternate role behind sophomore Mike Petko.

After playing backup to two-time All-Big Eight selection LeRoy Etienne the last two years, Jobman entered fall camp listed as the Huskers' No. 1 strong-side linebacker. The development of the speedier Petko eventually led to Jobman's return to a reserve role.

Husker linebackers coach Kevin Steele said he does not like to use the word "backup" when speaking of Jobman.

"I do not look at Randall as a backup to anybody," Steele said. "He's a captain of this football team. It just so happens that he has another guy that plays the game's first play in front of him."

Jobman, a two-year letterwinner and a member of the 1988 Lee Jeans Academic All-Big Eight Team, said he never was actually starting, so playing a reserve role has not affected him.

"There has been nothing to adjust to because I have been playing a backup role for the last three years," Jobman said. "Mike was young and I knew the stuff pretty well, and still do, but Mike has a little more speed. That's what got him where he is."

That sort of selfless comment is indicative of the kind of leadership Jobman has shown in his days as a Cornhusker, and that's why his teammates elected him one of four co-captains for the 1989 season.

"That's really a big honor. It shows what the guys think of my character and personality," said the two-time all-stater who played eight-man football at Oshkosh High School. "One role I have is to be a leader as captain, whether that be on the field, in academics or off the field."

Jobman said there is more to playing football for Nebraska than simply showing up on game days. He received his bachelor's degree in agriculture in May and said he plans to someday return to the family ranch.

After signing a national-letter-of-intent with the Huskers Feb. 1, 1984, Jobman lost his right thumb in a rodeo accident July 1. Surgeons at a Denver hospital were able to reattach the thumb. However, after sitting out the fall semester, he enrolled the following January. He went on to start at outside linebacker for the 5-0 Nebraska freshman team.

Jobman said every player needs to play his role on the team in order for Nebraska to be successful.

"Everybody would like to play all the time, but that just does not happen," Jobman said. "So, it is not really a let down not starting. I understand what my role is on this team and I'm going to play it to the best of my ability."

Steele said Jobman more than fulfills his role.

"He is exactly what a leader should be," Steele said. "He's not a political leader that speaks to masses. Randall does not always say that much, but he leads by example."

Jobman's rodeo experience and ranch background led his teammates to nicknaming him "Cowboy." "Cowboy" attributes much of his work habits and desire to his ranching experience.

"I think growing up on a ranch and farm helped me to learn a good work ethic from my folks," Jobman said. "It definitely carried over, but a lot of that has to do with personality, also. My background really helped."

Jobman said he has no reason to second guess himself and anticipates the remainder of the season that he hopes ends in a Big Eight Championship and trip to the Orange Bowl.

About Iowa State University

Since the first students enrolled at Iowa State, the institution has been committed to academic excellence. Iowa State's reputation for scholarship is internationally known and Iowa State's students are respected nationwide as serious scholars.

Iowa State University was founded in 1868 under terms of the Land Grant College Act signed by President Abraham Lincoln during the Civil War. Since the beginning Iowa State has been a co-educational "people's college". As years passed, the University developed a reputation as an outstanding broad-based institution with academic emphasis in the humanities and the arts while maintaining its position in the scientific and technical fields. Recently Iowa State has become known as a leading research center, renowned in the fields of engineering and agriculture.

One of the largest institutions governed by the State Board of Regents, Iowa State is a major Midwestern center of learning for 25,578 students, from all 50 states and 100 other nations. Iowa State attracts a diverse student body with a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs, a student to teaching faculty ratio of 12 to 1 and an average class size of 29 students. Over 120 undergraduate programs of study are available from Iowa State's eight colleges: Agriculture, Business Administration, Design, Education, Engineering, Family and Consumer Sciences, Sciences and Humanities and Veterinary Medicine.

The picturesque campus is comfortably situated in a central campus "park"—a splendid combination of conventional and contemporary architecture. ISU's classrooms and buildings are a blend of the old and the new, nestled amid thousands of trees and acres of greenery. The ultra-modern south campus is dominated by the Iowa State Center, Cyclone Stadium-Jack Trice Field, and the College of Veterinary Medicine.

The Iowa State Center, which boasts one of the nation's finest facilities of its kind, consists of the C.Y. Stephens Auditorium, the J.W. Fisher Theater, the Scheman Continuing Education Center, and the James H. Hilton Coliseum. Concert facilities draw some of the top names in entertainment. Bruce Springsteen, Tina Turner, Bill Cosby and the Broadway hit "Cats" have been featured on campus.

One of the highlights of the year occurs in spring as the campus blooms with tulips and apple blossoms just in time for the Veishea celebration. "Veishea" is ISU's annual open house and the largest student-run festival in the nation, complete with parade, exhibits and thousands of alumni. The campus is also a breathtaking sight in the fall, when autumn colors and leaves make it a cardinal and gold showplace.

Sports are a vital part of the life at Iowa State as the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics offers 21 men's and women's sports and the extensive intramural program boasts one of the highest student participation rates in the country. A number of Cyclone intercollegiate teams have been nationally ranked in recent years and several have brought home national titles. Iowa State has also produced 24 Olympians, three of whom captured gold medals. While athletics remain in the spotlight, the academic side shares equal time.

The opportunities that Iowa State offers stretch beyond the lengths of academics and athletics. There are ample opportunities for students to participate in theater, music, dance and intramural sports as well as numerous academic and campus organizations. The Greek system is strong, as are the residence halls. Both have been nationally recognized along with the top-notch academic advising program.

Iowa State University is an institution founded on a commitment to academic challenge, achievement and excellence. Iowa State reaches beyond this by offering its students some of the most advanced athletic, cultural and social opportunities in the Midwest.

Academics have always been an important part of the student-athlete's career at Nebraska. The Huskers have led the Big Eight in academic honors for athletes for many years and this year is no exception. Over 100 Husker athletes were named to the end-of-the-year Big Eight Honor Roll in 1988-89. To qualify, each letterperson must have posted a 3.0 grade point average during the 1988-89 year. Nebraska led the Big Eight with 113 named to the honor roll, followed by Iowa State with 89. The list included five who recorded straight A's (4.0 GPA) during the year including Mark Blazek (football), Lynne Frey (women's track), Kim Guthrie (women's track), Janet Kruse (volleyball) and Virginia Stahr (volleyball).

To qualify for first-team Academic All-Big Eight honors, a player must be a starter or an important reserve and post a 3.0 GPA. Five football players earned first-team honors and 51 other Huskers from 18 sports also proved that academics and athletics can go hand in hand.

The highest honor is to be named to the GTE Academic All-America team, where student-athletes across the nation compete for honors. To qualify, athletes must be a leading contributor to the team and post a 3.20 cumulative GPA. Nebraska had four first-team honorees, four second teamers and two who made the district team.

Congratulations to the following Husker athletes who have found success both in the classroom and in athletics.

Great Players - Bowl Bid

You can share in the first 100 years of University of Nebraska football with a distinctive set of reproductions of seven historic paintings prepared by nationally renowned sports artist, Ted Watts.

The series of seven montage style paintings feature many of the Huskers' most noteworthy gridiron personalities and noteworthy events. The works commemorate a century of gridiron excellence from the first university team in 1890, known then as the "Old Gold Knights", up to Tom Osborne's outstanding teams of the 1980s.

The University has commissioned graphic tributes, printed from Watts' paintings. Full color prints are available to the public in a choice of two limited edition set sizes. The "Elite" edition is available in 100 sets of seven prints on 24"x 20" art print paper at a cost of $2,000.00 per set. The "Standard" edition is available in 1,000 sets of seven prints on 20"x 15" art print paper at a cost of $200.00 per set. All prints in both editions are hand-signed and numbered by the artist in the traditional manner.

In addition, the "Elite" edition prints featuring Bob Devaney and Tom Osborne are individually signed by the coaches.

You may order either or both sets by using the attached Art Print Order Form. Mail your order, along with the payment to: The University of Nebraska, P.O. Box 82848, Lincoln, Nebraska 68501-2848. Packaging and mailing costs are included in the cost.

"Legend Sheets"

A set of legend sheets accompanies each art print set. Each sheet contains a brief history of the era depicted in one of the paintings, an identification drawing of each personality or event depicted, and a brief statistical review. Don Bryant has provided the written history.

Sports artist Ted Watts is profiled on a separate biography sheet.

Each set of prints is bound in an attractive portfolio envelope.

You Make The Call.

O.K. Here's the situation: Early in the fourth quarter, with Nebraska up by three touchdowns and looking like a Red Steamroller, a fan stands up from his assigned seat. He decides to get a jump on the crowd and leaves the game to go to Tony & Luigi's. Did he make the right decision?

Now you make the call!

THE TOUCHDOWN CLUB OF NEBRASKA

One of the groups most instrumental in helping the University of Nebraska Athletic Department grow in the field of intercollegiate sports is the Nebraska Touchdown Club.

Contributions from TD Club members have enabled the Cornhuskers to build a fine grant-in-aid program and continued support from the Touchdown Club, and groups like the Husker Achievement Awards, the Extra Point Club, and the Cornhusker Beef Club, will insure that the Nebraska Cornhuskers will always hold a prominent place in the college sports world.

The University of Nebraska Athletic Department salutes the many members of the Touchdown Club and takes this opportunity to say a sincere "Thank You."

Touchdown Club members (as of Aug. 1, 1989) contributing $200 or more are:

SPEND LESS TIME ON BUSINESS TRIPS.

ENJOY the convenience of First Federal Lincoln.

The less time you have to spend managing your money, the more time you can spend enjoying it.

Which is precisely why First Federal Lincoln makes customer convenience a priority. We have more locations in the region than any other financial institution. So chances are, there's one right on your way to work. Right on your way to the store. Or right on your way home. In fact, we've gone out of our way to make sure you don't have to go out of yours.

If you'd like to enjoy banking, and not just tolerate it, come to the First Federal Lincoln Office nearest you. It won't take long.

Corn Huskers salutes the Cornhuskers

Husker Wheel Club

Automobile dealers in Nebraska are contributing a large measure of help to the University of Nebraska athletic program through the loan of courtesy cars. Like other programs which are a part of the Cornhusker booster group activities, this project enables the Nebraska Athletic Department to make greater use of its funds.

These sports-minded dealers around the state have earned a debt of gratitude from the University of Nebraska Athletic Department. They are an important part of the "team" that includes players, coaches, administration, faculty, staff, students, alumni, Husker Educational Award group, Touchdown Club, Extra Point Club, Beef Club and the courtesy car program.

The elements of Timberland design are solid brass eyelets, oil-impregnated leather, wind, water, earth and sky.

In the 20 years since our craftsmen hand-built the world's first guaranteed waterproof boot, Timberland® boots have raced across Alaska. Timberland shoes have taken Italy by storm. And Timberland apparel has traveled from the foothills of the Rockies to the canyons of Wall Street. Wherever men or women face the elements to reach an appointed place—be it the office or the outpost.

It has always been our belief that the elements that shape the earth itself, the very ground we walk on, should also shape the clothing we wear and the shoes in which we walk.

Whether our path leads to the highest peak in Colorado or the tallest skyscraper in Chicago. And whether we are from the West or East. Women or men.

These elements, quite simply, are wind, water, earth and sky. In alliance with the world's most enduring leathers, they are the elements that make up our entire line of boots, shoes and clothing.

Designed for today. And years from today.

Boots, shoes, clothing, wind, water, earth and sky.

1989 HUSKER WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

Head Coach:Jay Dirksen
(South Dakota State '68)
Year:7th
Asst. Coach:David Harris
(Northeast Missouri State '78)
1988 NCAA Finish:3rd
1988 Big Eight Finish:1st
Letterwinners Lost:3
Letterwinners Returning:6

Quick Facts: The Huskers' third-place finish at the NCAA Championships was the best finish ever by an NU cross country team. In addition to the Big Eight title, their second under Dirksen, Nebraska's runners won their first-ever NCAA District V title. Gone from this year's team is two-time All-American Sammie Resh, but the Huskers do return Yvonne van der Kolk, who earned All-America honors as a freshman in 1988. Top Big Eight performers Juliet Prowse, Michele Marthaler and Tracy Smith also return.

1988 NCAA Finish:11th
1988 Big Eight Finish:3rd
Lettermen Lost:0
Lettermen Returning:7

Quick Facts: Nebraska returns all seven lettermen from last year's team that finished 11th at the 1988 NCAA Championships. It was the best-ever placing by the Husker men despite illness and injury to key runners. It also marked the first time in school history that NU has produced two All-Americans in the same season with both Joe Kirby and Jacques van Rensburg returning. The Husker men joined the women's team by capturing their first-ever NCAA District V title in 1988.

The Nebraska volleyball team, under the direction of head coach
Terry Pettit, attempts an unprecedented
14th straight Big Eight Conference Championship. The 1989 Huskers are led by All-America Virginia Stahr and All-Big Eight performers Carla Baker.

Val Novak and Linda Barsness. Stahr, the 1988 GTE Academic All-American of the Year, led the Huskers last season to a 28-5 record and their seventh consecutive appearance in the NCAA tournament. Coach Pettit and the Huskers will be playing 15 matches on their home court in the NU Coliseum and featured opponents will be 1988 national runner-up Hawaii,
Final Four participant Illinois, and NCAA participants Kentucky,
Pittsburgh, Stanford and Oklahoma.

Men's and Women's 1990 Indoor Home Schedule

Jan. 27	Washington Dual
Feb. 9-10	Frank Sevigne Husker Invitational
Feb. 23-24	Big Eight Championships

Quick Facts: Nebraska swept the Big Eight Conference men's and women's indoor and outdoor track and field titles in 1989, only the second time in league history that a school had accomplished that feat. The NU women's team won every Big Eight Conference indoor and outdoor championship meet in the 1980s. The Husker men have won three straight Big Eight indoor titles under Coach Pepin, and two of the last three outdoor league titles.

Thirteen athletes that earned All-America honors for the Cornhuskers a year ago return for the 1990 season. Returning All-Americans for the men's team include Dieudonne Kwizera, Mark Jackson, Ken Waller, Joe Kirby, Jeff Hooper and Harald Graham. The women's team returns seven athletes that earned All-America honors in 1989, Sammie Resh, Tanya Lidy, Prema Govindan, Denise Lucas, Ximena Restrepo, Patricia Nadler, and Beth Webster.

Add it up yourself. Toshiba's SUPER TUBE™ TV with Super Carver Sonic Holography™ has the world's largest FST™ picture tube.

Our new Hi Drive delivery system uses a dual path electron gun, versus the conventional single path gun. Our lenses are bigger.* And we increased their number to eight rather than four—the most any other picture tube maker uses.

What it all amounts to is a picture with 700 lines of resolution whose sharpness, brightness and contrast is unprecedented in a TV of any size.

But that's only half the equation. Toshiba's new Super Carver™ System is the most advanced television sound system available. Carver Sonic Holography™ has been combined with a newly-developed Dipole Spatial Sound™ speaker, which, when mounted behind the TV or placed behind the viewer, creates sound so real and intense, it will actually make the picture seem bigger.

Add to this some of the most advanced features ever developed for a TV, like remote-controlled swivel motors that allow the TV and two of its speakers to each turn 15 degrees left or right, full on-screen displays, 181-channel cable compatibility, and a complete A/V jack pack.

Why our 32" TV is greater than anyone else's 35."

Equally impressive are Toshiba's new full-size SK-F200 VHS camcorder and SV-F990 Super VHS VCR with multiple pro-edit features and digital special effects.

The sum total is a larger-than-life experience beyond calculation. You see, the competition claims to be ahead of us by inches. But, Toshiba's technology is ahead by miles.

TIPS ON SHOOTING SPORTS

LENSES FOR SPORTS PHOTOGRAPHY

Let's assume, for the sake of argument, that you're pretty serious about sports photography. If that's the case, you'll be using a 35mm single-lens reflex camera. In part, that's because SLRs are about the most sophisticated amateur cameras available. And in part, you'll choose an SLR because then you can use interchangeable lenses.

What's the big benefit? Well, suppose you're sitting underneath the backboard of a Lakers-Celtics showdown. The standard issue 50mm lens will do just fine as Larry Bird and Company cross the half-court line, but what do you do when the action is hot and heavy under the boards? If you've got a 28mm wide-angle lens in your bag, two twists of the wrist and a quick swap can put everyone in the picture. Or suppose you're at the Super Bowl, sitting in the stands. The 50mm lens will do a decent job on the bands at halftime, but if you want to fill a frame with a third-quarter tackle, you'd better have a 300mm telephoto handy.

Besides bringing distant action up close or cramming nearby action into a frame, auxiliary lenses have other benefits. Wide-angle lenses—24mm, 28mm, and 35mm—have an unusually deep depth of field. If you're concerned about getting the foreground and the background both in focus, but the light is bad and you need a fairly wide aperture, a wide-angle lens can make the shot possible. For the same reason, you can "zone" focus (focus in the middle of an area you want to be sharp) and know that a good deal of what's before the focal point—and even more that's behind the focal point—will be good and sharp.

Telephoto lenses, not surprisingly, have a shallow depth of field, so you can throw the background out of focus on a bright day by using a 200mm lens. And since telephotos also make objects look closer together, you can use them to achieve dramatic effects... like stacking the Bears' defense to make it look even more imposing than it really is.

One thing to remember about telephotos: they're very susceptible to vibration. If you're shooting at less than 1/500, use a tripod, a monopod, or rest the lens on something solid.

Zoom lenses offer the best of both worlds. They're now available in focal lengths that range from wide-angle to short telephoto (say 28mm-85mm), or from short telephoto to very long (100mm-300mm). You'll sacrifice an aperture stop or two compared to single focal length lenses, but you'll have unparalleled convenience and you'll save some cash, too. And you'll have the opportunity to experiment with zooming during exposure, which can produce some dramatic sports shots.

If you're going to be shooting from the stands, a telephoto, zoom or single length, is virtually a necessity. In such a location, you won't be able to get physically close enough to the action to get any kind of impact in your shots. I'd suggest you have at least a 200mm lens for such occasions... a 300mm would be even better. If you're working in tight quarters—like right behind the net in a hockey game or under the backboard at a roundball event—on the other hand, a wide-angle lens is worth its weight in gold.

You usually have the option of buying an accessory lens made by your camera's manufacturer, one that's part of your camera's "system," or buying a less expensive lens from an aftermarket manufacturer. The system lens is often optically better because it can be optimized for your specific camera. On the other hand, the aftermarket lens usually costs less. The choice is up to you, but my preference is the system lens if you can afford it. Spread out over the life of the lens, the price difference isn't that much.

MIKE ROZIER

Rozier capped an outstanding three-year career by becoming the Huskers' second Heisman Trophy winner after a phenomenal senior season that saw him rewrite the Husker rushing and scoring record book. He outdistanced Brigham Young quarterback Steve Young to win the award after piling up an NCAA-record 929 yards on the ground in the Huskers' final four regular season games. Rozier finished the 1983 season with 2,148 yards, the second highest in NCAA history at the time behind USC's Marcus Allen (2,342 on 403 carries in 1981). However, considering Rozier's NCAA season record of 7.8 yards per carry, he would have amassed 3,148 yards in '83 if he had carried the ball as often as Allen.

1983 Heisman Trophy

Mike Rozier became Nebraska's first NCAA rushing champion.

JOHNNY RODGERS

One of the most exciting players in the history of college football, Rodgers won the 38th annual Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding collegiate player in 1972. A two-time consensus All-America wingback, Rodgers became the Huskers' first Heisman winner as he outdistanced Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt and Husker teammate Rich Glover. The most dangerous player ever to wear the Cornhusker Scarlet and Cream, "Johnny the Jet" threatened to go all the way every time he touched the ball, as he averaged 15 yards per touch during his junior year, which still stands as an NCAA record. He also shares the NCAA record for the most punt returns for touchdowns in a career, seven.

Johnny Rodgers broke OU's back in the "Game of the Century."

1972 Heisman Trophy

LARRY JACOBSON

Nebraska's first Outland winner, Jacobson won the trophy as the defensive left tackle on the Huskers' 1971 national championship team. A Lombardi finalist, the 6-6, 247-pound native of Sioux Falls, S.D., gathered All-America and All-Big Eight honors during his senior campaign. Jacobson also excelled in the classroom and was the top vote-getter on the 1971 Academic All-America team.

Larry Jacobson
1971 Outland Award

RICH GLOVER

A two-time All-American, Glover capped an outstanding senior year by sweeping national honors in 1972, winning both the Outland Award and the Lombardi Trophy. Glover's Outland Award gave Nebraska the distinction of being the first school to win back-to-back Outlands, a feat that would be accomplished again a decade later by Huskers Dave Rimington and Dean Steinkuhler. The 6-1, 234-pound middle guard from Jersey City, N.J., also finished third in the 1972 Heisman balloting behind Husker teammate Johnny Rodgers and Oklahoma's Greg Pruitt.

Rich Glover
1972 Outland Award
1972 Lombardi Trophy

DAVE RIMINGTON

Possibly the most decorated offensive lineman ever to play college football, Rimington became the first and only player to win back-to-back Outland Awards. As a junior in 1981 Rimington was named Big Eight Player of the Year by both wire services and won his first Outland, setting the stage for his senior year, which he capped by sweeping the 1982 Outland and Lombardi Trophies. A two-time consensus All-America center from Omaha, Neb., Rimington became the second Husker to sweep the lineman awards and his consecutive Outland honors brought Nebraska the distinction of being the only school to win back-to-back Outland Awards twice, as he duplicated Larry Jacobson (1971) and Rich Glover's (1972) feat by himself.

DEAN STEINKUHLER

Nebraska again boasted the nation's top lineman in 1983 as Dean Steinkuhler, a 6-3, 270-pound offensive guard from Burr, Neb., swept national honors by lugging home the Outland and Lombardi Trophies, giving Nebraska an unprecedented three straight Outlands and two straight Lombardis. With Steinkuhler's teammate Mike Rozier winning the Heisman, Nebraska is the only school to win the top three honors in a season, and the Huskers have done it twice, first turning the trick in 1972 when Johnny Rodgers won the Heisman and Rich Glover took home the Outland and Lombardi. ■

THERE IS NO PLACE LIKE NEBRASKA

There is no place like Nebraska,
Dear old Nebraska U,
Where the girls are the fairest,
The boys are the squarest
Of any old place that you know.
There is no place like Nebraska,
Where they're all true blue,
We'll all stick together,
In all kinds of weather,
For dear old Nebraska U.

"THE CORNHUSKER"

Come a-runnin', boys,
Don't you hear that noise
Like the thunder in the skies,
How it rolls along
In the good old song,
For the sons of Nebraski.
Now it's coming near
With a rising cheer
That will sweep all foes away,
So, with all our vim,
We are bound to win,
And we're going to win today—

CHORUS

For Nebraska and the Scarlet,
For Nebraska and the Cream
Tho they go through many a battle
Our colors still are seen.
So in contest and in victory
We will wave them for the team
And 'twill stir a Cornhusker
The Old Scarlet and the Cream.

NEBRASKA FIELD SONG

Fight! Fight! Fight!
For the Scarlet and Cream.
We'll all fight like mad
For the team.
Smash that line,
We're with you all the time.
Touchdown, Nebraska U!
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Go, Nebraska, pile up that score.
We've got to take this game—
We're out to win
We never give in.
Fight! Nebraska! Fight!

I'M COMMITTED TO A DRUG FREE AMERICA

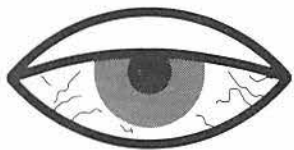

(Place The Name of Your Head Coach Here)

Coach Tom Osborne

Eye Signs of Substance Abuse

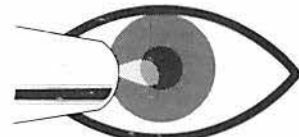

This simple eye check should take less than one minute to complete. If two or more of these checks prove positive, it indicates the eyes are being affected by either a medical condition that needs attention or by the use of drugs. The cause for either condition should be discovered. Contact your physician or call Athletes for a Strong America for more information at 714/669-0438

DROOPY OR SWOLLEN EYE LID/EXCESSIVE REDNESS

If the upper eye lid is puffy and droops over the pupil, or the white part of the eye is very red, this could indicate possible drug use.

Hold a medical flashlight 3" to 4" from the eye and flick light into each pupil. A normal pupil will constrict very quickly. If the pupil is non-reactive or very sluggish, this could indicate possible drug use.

LIGHT CHECK

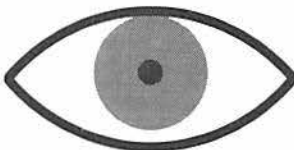

DILATED OR ENLARGED PUPIL

Under normal light, the pupil should be about 1/3 the width of the iris. Certain drugs like cocaine or methamphetamine can cause the pupils to be much larger than normal.

Hold your finger approximately 8" to 12" from the eye in a vertical position and have the person track from side to side. Failure to hold a gaze may indicate possible drug use.

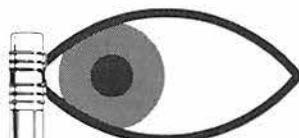

EYE TRACKING

TINY OR CONSTRICTED PUPIL

Under normal light, the pupil should be about 1/3 the width of the iris. Certain drugs like heroin can cause the pupil to be much smaller than normal.

Hold your finger or pencil in a vertical position about one foot in front of the nose. Have the person track the object to about 1/2 inch in front of the nose and hold this position for 2-4 seconds. Failure to do this could indicate possible drug use.

CONVERGENCE

The Board of Trustees of The American Football Coaches Association has endorsed the National Eye on Drugs Week.

Today, hundreds of college coaches and their teams are delaying football games across America for one minute to dramatize their concern about drugs and alcohol abuse in our nation. October 21st through 29th has been designated "National Eye on Drugs Week." It is an effort on the part of the football coaching profession to bring attention to this problem. The Board of Trustees of the American Football Coaches Association has endorsed this project.

We are very concerned about what drugs and alcohol are doing to our families. Drugs and alcohol have had a powerful impact on the sports world as well. As one of the thousands of football coaches who work with young people, this problem really concerns me. Parents can protect their children by learning to identify the earliest signs of drug use. The eye cannot mask drug use. Please, learn the signs and join us in the effort to make America drug-free.

Thank you,

Tom Osborne

Tom Novak . . . The Great "Train Wreck"

by Mike Babcock
Lincoln Journal-Star

George Sullivan, who's been associated with the Nebraska football program since 1947 as a player and as a trainer and physical therapist, was asked to name the toughest Cornhusker he'd ever seen.

Tom Novak, Sullivan responded, without hesitation.

Anyone who saw Novak play would answer such a question the same way. He was nicknamed "Train Wreck"—by Corny Collin, his coach at Omaha South High School—for good reason. He played the game with all the finesse of metal grating against metal, the way it was meant to be played. He was the personification of tough.

Novak was an All-Big Six Conference fullback as a freshman in 1946 and an All-Big Six center in 1947. Colorado joined the conference in 1948 to make it the Big Seven. Some things change. Some don't. Novak was an All-Big Seven center in 1948. And in 1949, he was not only all-conference but also All-American as a center and linebacker.

The 1949 team, coached by Bill Glassford, was the best on which Novak ever played at Nebraska, finishing with a 4-5 record and providing further evidence of his accomplishments on the football field. He excelled even though those around him didn't.

After Nebraska's 31-0 loss to Johnny Lujack-led Notre Dame in South Bend in 1947, Novak was given a standing ovation by the partisan Fighting Irish audience of some 56,000. A newspaper account the next day said: "From a Nebraska standpoint, the game is a story about one player," Novak, the Cornhusker captain for that game "whose defensive play overshadowed even the ball totting ability of Coy 'Fibber' McGee and the fourth period assault waged by tough, hard-hitting Emil Sitko."

Sitko, a consensus All-American, and McGee played for Notre Dame, of course.

"Tom Novak was everywhere," the story continued. "He made most of the tackles and more than once set the Irish back on their heels."

In the first quarter, he intercepted a Lujack pass and returned the ball to the Notre Dame 37-yard line to give Nebraska one of several scoring opportunities on which it failed to capitalize that day.

Novak was dauntless, even in defeat. A crowd estimated at 1,000 met the Cornhuskers at the train station on their return from South Bend. Novak spoke to the audience. "They weren't as tough as I thought they would be," he said of the Irish, who went undefeated and won the mythical national championship that season.

Novak could have earned a Ph.D. in toughness. He was an iron man, playing all but 30 minutes during the 1947 season. In one of his most memorable games, he lined up against Minnesota's Leo Nomellini, who went on to play in 197 consecutive professional games and earned a spot in the NFL Hall of Fame.

Novak played nearly every minute of the 1950 College All-Star Game at Chicago's Soldier Field. The game, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune newspaper, matched the previous season's National Football League champion against an all-star team of players who had just completed their collegiate eligibility. Novak and the college all-stars posted a rare, 17-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

A year earlier, the Eagles had defeated the All-Stars 38-0.

The jerseys of six Cornhusker football players have been retired by the university. Novak was the first to be so honored. His No. 60 was retired in 1950, immediately following his graduation.

That same year, the Novak Trophy was established to be presented to the Cornhusker senior who "best exemplifies courage and determination despite all odds in the manner of Nebraska All-American Tom Novak."

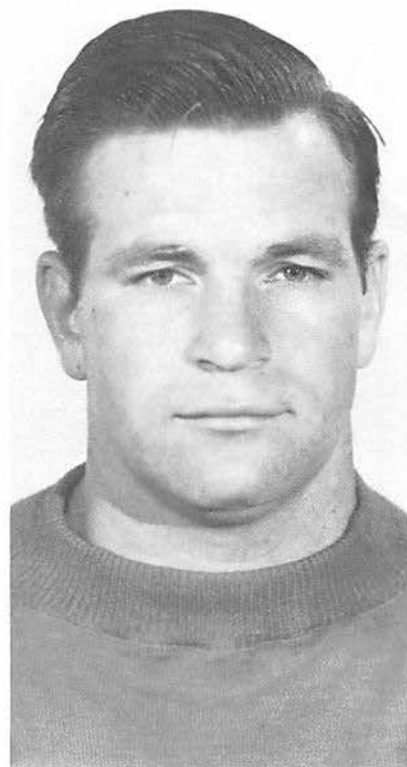

Novak has given new meaning to those words since injuring his spine falling down stairs in 1976. He has refused to be confined to a wheelchair, exhibiting the same, gritty determination that made him an All-American.

"My philosophy is, I got myself into this and I do the best I can to get out of it. I don't work on anybody's mercy," he once told a reporter.

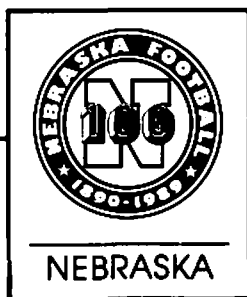

As Lyell Bremser, the long-time radio voice of the Cornhuskers, once said: "My eyes have never seen Tom Novak's equal at any position. As football players go, the Good Lord made Tom Novak, then threw away the mold."

He was tough. No doubt about it.

Husker All-American Tom Novak (1946-49)

Each week on this page, Mike Babcock will present an indepth look at a veteran athletic staff member and their contributions to Nebraska football.

Nebraska Centennial Special . . .

Former Huskers "Remember When . . ."

POCKET CHANGE—Warren Alfson (Guard, 1938-40) "The only subsidizing was to allow the University to spend $1000 on a training table for the football team for one year—total." Warren and Marge Alfson have two daughters and live in Wisner, Neb.

HANG TOUGH, LITTLE GUY—Jerry Wilkes (Offensive Tackle, 1963-66) "I found coming to the University of Nebraska in 1963 on a football scholarship from the state of Michigan to be a very humbling and rewarding experience. Back in my home state, I was thought to be a good size prospect at 6-3, 210 pounds for a lineman. Upon my arrival in Lincoln as a freshman in 1963, I was introduced to my new roommate, a 6-3, 265-pound running back! I also met Bob Brown, a 6-5, 265-pound lineman. I often wondered in those early first few days in Selleck Quad if maybe my second choice, Ohio State, would have players more my size to compete against. However, as I look back 26 years ago, I made the RIGHT decision to come to Nebraska and play for Bob Devaney. He taught me many lessons about life both on and off the field and I will always be grateful to him for a chance to become an adopted Nebraskan. I have made Nebraska my permanent home." Jerry and Georgia Wilkes have two children and live in Hastings, Neb., where he is the principal at Hastings Senior High School.

EASY DOES IT, BOSS—Elmer Dohrmann (End, 1935-37) "One of my memories, and one I shall never forget, was an encounter with Roy "Link" Lyman, the newly appointed line coach under head coach D.X. Bible. It was a miserable, rainy spring day and the Nebraska high school coaches were in attendance for the annual spring football clinic. Because of bad weather, practice was moved indoors under the east side stands of the stadium. Long-timers will remember the indoor track and a dirt area mixed with sawdust for football practice. "Link" Lyman had just arrived on the scene for his first day of practice . . . D.X. thought it would be a good idea to have "Link" demonstrate some of his defensive tactics for the high school coaches. In the single- and double-wing formations the end always blocked the opposing tackle. Being the biggest end at 205 pounds, I was selected to oppose Lyman. This was to demonstrate defensive techniques and the action was supposed to be passive—meaning make good contact. We lined up one-on-one and on the signal, "Link" just flattened me. I got up feeling embarrassed as well as bleeding at the mouth. I didn't say a word, but thought to myself, 'two can play this game.' On the next play, I gave him a hard right elbow to the jaw. From then on, the demonstration proceeded on a passive basis. This was my introduction to "Link" Lyman." Dohrmann is Nebraska's all-time letterwinner with 11, competing in football, basketball, baseball and track from 1936-39. He and his wife, Betty, live in Atherton, Calif.

A REALLY SORE WINNER—Dave Shamblin (Split End, 1973-76) "Against Missouri at home in 1976, I fumbled late in a game that we eventually lost. When coming off the field after the game a Missouri fan, a little fat guy with a black and gold Missouri hat on, came up to me and was pointing his finger in my face. I had my mouthpiece in my left hand and threw the most beautiful left hook that landed squarely on this guy's jaw. This punch dropped this fellow in his tracks. As he arose, and approached me, Dean Gissler ("the man who sees the tops of trees") grabbed him and threw him well over 20 feet." Dave and Sue Shamblin live in Lincoln and have two daughters.

OU, PENN STATE DEJA VU?—Kenneth T. McGinnis, M.D. (Guard, 1935-36) "Our losses to Minnesota both years were disappointing. In 1935 we were stopped on the one-yard line near the end of the game and lost 12-7. In 1936 we played Minnesota to a stand still (only) to lose in the last minutes of the game. I will always believe Bud Wilkinson was out of bounds when he lateralled to Andy Uram. I wish we had had instant replay then. I have the movies of that game and I still think he was on the chalk when he threw the lateral pass." Dr. McGinnis and his wife, Lorraine, have two sons and a daughter and live in Lincoln.

I SEE ONE—Marvin Athey (Back, 1940-42) "The best memory is of the fine people I met and played with. (And) The Friday night stay at the Ashland Guard Camp and the snipe hunt for some of the new players." Athey and his wife live in Imperial.

TASTES LIKE CHICKEN—Earl "Gus" Eager (Halfback, 1943) "In 1943 while traveling by train to Columbia, Mo., we had delightful but funny tasting chicken dinner. It was opossum. We thought they were trying to poison us before the game but they didn't need to, we lost anyway." The parents of nine children, Earl and Rose Ann Eager live in Merced, Calif.

WHEN YOU THINK ABOUT IT . . .—William Rolfsmeyer (Guard/Tackle, 1945-46) "It was a grand experience. But in retrospect, it tended toward the hilarious." William and Ginny Rolfsmeyer live in Lincoln and have three children.

GLAD WE DIDN'T FLY—Bill Holeran (Tackle, 1953-54) "One of the experiences I remember was on a train trip to play Pittsburgh in 1953. Our quarterback didn't make it to the station before the train departed. Coach Glassford was furious, but called the state patrol to help the quarterback, (who) only lived a short distance from the station. They put the QB in a trooper's car to catch the train in Omaha. The trooper caught us at Ashland and raced the train the remaining distance to Omaha. The QB joined us for the rest of the trip. P.S. He played a great game on Saturday." Bill and his wife, Nancy, have three children and live in Omaha.

Professor Charles Mignon and manuscript

UNL professor edits colonial poet's sermons

Edward Taylor's manuscript found in Nebraska City home

by Gary Brienzo
University Information

After 12 years of labor, a University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) scholar in American literature is about to see the fruits of his toil transformed into print in a two-volume edition of a manuscript by America's foremost Colonial poet.

Professor of English Charles Mignon's edition of Edward Taylor's "Upon the Types of the Old Testament" is to be published by the Nebraska Press later this year.

Besides the satisfaction of having produced a modern work from a 276 year-old, hand-written manuscript, Professor of English Charles Mignon says that he has also "earned" two changes in the prescriptions to his bifocals and learned several things about both himself and his subject.

"When I first saw the manuscript," Mignon said, "I felt the way Emily Dickinson said she did when she read real poetry: 'If I feel physically as if the top of my head were taken off. I know that is poetry.' I knew at once that this was a genuine 17th century document, that it was Edward Taylor's, and that someone was going to have to edit it for modern readers."

"Soon enough," he added, "I knew it would be me. After all, I knew his handwriting; had written my dissertation on him at the University of Connecticut."

The manuscript of 36 sermons with a typological subject—one dealing with figures and types in the Old Testament that foreshadowed Christ—reached Mignon's hands by an intriguing path.

It originated in Westfield, Mass., Bay Colony, Taylor's home and the place where he was minister and town doctor from 1671 until his death in 1729. Sometime between 1877 and 1880 the manuscript came west with one of Taylor's descendants to Nebraska City. There it rested, according to Mignon, behind a library door for about 100 years. Then, Ernie Long, owner of Long's Bookstore in Lincoln, found it among volumes in a library he was asked to assess. He brought it to Mignon's attention.

Mignons said "An immense amount of work was required to bring the material up to the standards of the Committee on Scholarly Editions of the Modern Language Association, the academic body that must approve such publications."

The labor was undertaken in successive and repeating phases, according to Mignon, beginning with the transcription of Taylor's archaic long-hand, and then, when the transcription became exhausting, continuing with the copying and identifying of his marginal notes. When the Latin in the margins began to pall, Mignon says, he moved on to the explanatory notes, or to making up the emendation list.

"When I wearied of any of these steps, I would turn to other tasks," he said. "These included writing the textual commentary which I had to provide, and collecting material for the historical introduction, before moving back to the transcription of the original 846 pages."

The task was grueling, but Mignon said there were also many pleasant surprises along the way. "Edward Taylor is revealed in these sermons very much as an intellectual deeply learned in a humanist tradition, which is not so usual for a small-town Puritan minister," he said.

As well as tracing the foreshadowing of Christ in Old Testament types, the sermons also surprise modern readers with Taylor's extensive knowledge of religious heresies, according to Mignon, as well as his understanding of diverse Biblical criticism from the Church Fathers up to the reformers of his own age.

"These volumes will show Taylor to be one of the major scholarly minds of his period in the Massachusetts Bay Colony."

"Upon the Types of the Old Testament" will be available at bookstores later this year. Its appeal, according to Mignon, will be to those interested in Colonial and New England Literature, American Church history, and seventeenth century religion and history.

Scholarly interest or sales aside, Mignon says completing the twelve-year task marks a personal milestone for him and serves as a long lesson in the diligence needed for a labor of this scope.

"I've learned a great deal from the experience," he said, "but the principal lesson was patience. Even so, like Huck Finn, I'm rotten glad it's done 'because if I'd a knowed what a trouble it was to make a book I wouldn't a tackled it.'"

Honor Lee Sapp family at center dedication

The new student recreation center at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (UNL) was dedicated this morning in the name of an Omaha family that provided a substantial gift in support of the facility.

The Lee and Helene Sapp Recreation Facility is the new addition which links the Coliseum to the Cook Pavillion and houses four basketball/volleyball courts, a suspended track, an extensive weight training area, the Campus Recreation offices, and equipment rental areas. The dedication ceremony was held at 10 a.m. today.

Mr. and Mrs. Sapp, their son, Lee A. Sapp, and daughter, Dr. Lori A. Sapp, made a gift commitment of $500,000 to the University of Nebraska Foundation for the facility. The Lee Sapp family has strongly supported athletics and academics at UNL and the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

"Private support of public universities has become increasingly important to the success we have in educating students," said UNL Chancellor Martin Massengale. "This new facility stands as a tribute to the entire Sapp family and their enduring belief in the ideals of higher education."

Lee Sapp is founder and chairman of the board of Lee Sapp Enterprises, which includes leasing, insurance, banking and real estate interests in Omaha and Ashland. He is president of Lee Sapp Leasing Inc., Lee's Ford-Mercury, the Ashland State Bank, and Ashland Bancshares, and vice president of Lee Sapp Insurance, Inc. In addition, he is one of four brothers who founded a number of Sapp Brothers transportation and petroleum businesses headquartered in Omaha.

"This new athletic center completes the second phase of an extensive revitalization of recreation facilities on the UNL campus," Massengale said. "It would not have been possible without the support of the UNL Athletic Department and the assistance provided by thousands of dedicated alumni and friends of the University."

The first phase was the construction of the Cook Pavillion indoor practice facility linked to the north side of the Sapp facility. The third phase, to begin this winter, involves continued renovation of the Coliseum.

The University of Nebraska Foundation is a nonprofit corporation that supplements the faculty support, academic programs and facilities of the three campuses of the University of Nebraska with the gifts of alumni friends, corporations and other foundations.
